OVERVIEW AND HISTORY:

groSolar is a leading North American distributor and integrator of solar energy systems for commercial and residential applications. Founded in 1998, groSolar is a mission driven company dedicated to providing high value products, systems and services that deliver peace of mind through solar energy systems and whole energy appreciation.

Jeff Wolfe, groSolar's founder, knew early on what he was destined to do. In high school, Jeff experienced the Energy Crisis of 1973 first hand. He decided at that point to dedicate his life's work to renewable energy production and energy efficiency, advocacy and development. Jeff and his wife, Dori, both engineering graduates from Cornell, developed groSolar to lead the solar industry in innovation and sound business practice.

Today, with warehouses on both coasts of the United States, groSolar has the broadest solar distribution network in North America. groSolar also serves all major United States solar markets with a dealer installation office.
